

DEPARTMENT OF PEDIATRICS – APPENDIX A PGY1-3 ATTACHMENT TO RESIDENCY CONTRACT

This appointment is subject to the following conditions, upon agreement of the resident and the Department of Pediatrics.

(1) Resident physicians are expected to:

- Obtain certification in Pediatric Advanced Life Support (PALS) and Neonatal Resuscitation Program Certification (NRP) before orientation. Provide proof of certification to the Pediatric Medical Education Office by June 1, 2015. Residents can also elect to attend, at their own expense, a weekend training session for PALS and NRP at the University of Florida
- Attend the Class of 2018 Orientation scheduled daily June 22 – June 30, 2015 from 7am to 5pm.
- Portray a level of administrative professionalism by completing notes, duty hours, evaluations, and procedure logs in a timely fashion.
- Review and acknowledge receipt of Department policies and rotational goals and objectives as assigned and requested.
- Attend at least 60% of all Grand Rounds, Morning Report, Noon conference, and participate fully in all other educational activities of this program, including assuming the responsibility for the teaching and supervising of other residents and students.
- Attend Pediatric Science Day as long as clinical duties do not preclude participation.
- Obtain passing score on USMLE Step 3 for advancement to PGY-3 year. Provide copy of score to Pediatric Medical Education Office by March 1, 2017.
- Be credentialed in the performance of certain medical procedures by the end of the academic year, commensurate with your level of training.
- Participate in the recruitment of the next class of PGY1 residents each academic year.

(2) Program responsibilities:

- Membership fee to the American Academy of Pediatrics
- Examination fee for the American Board of Pediatrics In-training exam
- An educational allowance of $850 is provided to be used over the course of this three-year training period (those with shorter training periods will have a pro-rated amount). These funds can be used for pediatric books, journal subscriptions, travel money for academic meetings, and other education items as approved by the Medical Education Manager.
- Five days of conference time during the PGY 2 or PGY 3 year. Unused days do not carryover.
